Re: Berg v. Lindgren

Dear Mr. Witmer:

On November 3, 1997, I wrote you a letter requesting certain information. On November 25, 1997, I wrote again after no response to my letter as well as several phone messages. I left another message this afternoon and trust the combination of this fax and my previous requests will invoke a responding telephone call from you at your most earliest convenience.

The Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act, Title 31 section 146.5 titled, Failure to Acknowledge Pertinent Information, states at section (c), "An appropriate reply shall be made within 10 working days on . . . communications from a claimant which reasonably suggest that a response is expected." It has now been a month and you have not responded to my initial request, my second request nor any of my numerous phone messages.

Please favor me with an immediate phone call.

Very truly yours,

Ben Mayerson

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

In response to our conversation of May 8, 1998 during which you advised that your clients intend to dispose of or sell the vehicle which is at issue in this case, please be advised that we do wish to have an expert inspect the vehicle. Either I or the expert will be in touch with you to arrange a time for this inspection. We therefore expect that the vehicle will be maintained in its present condition until our inspection is complete.

Thank you.

Please be advised that we will maintain the vehicle for an additional thirty (30) days. Please schedule another appointment with the Bergs at your earliest opportunity. Dear Mr. Mayerson:

This will confirm our conversation of today. You agreed that you have no objection to Nationwide and its representatives performing an initial inspection of the Berg's vehicle while reserving our right to have an automotive expert perform a second inspection. We agreed that I would coordinate the details of the inspection including the time, place and persons performing the inspection, and advise you of these matters in advance. You also asked that a representative of your choosing be present at each of the inspections to be performed on behalf of Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company.

I also agreed that I would advise you as soon as possible regarding the deposition of Mr. Doug Van of Crawford after my discussions with my client and the attorneys for Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth. Please let me know immediately if this letter does not accurately represent our agreements.

Thank you:

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

This will confirm that the inspection of the subject vehicle will take place on August 21, 1998. Mr. Berg has requested that the vehicle be picked up at his house and driven to the inspection at Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth. This will also confirm your agreement that this inspection will not preclude Defendants from requesting an additional inspection at a later date.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions. Thank you for your cooperation.

RE: Berg v. Lindgren, Chrysler Plymouth, Inc. and Nationwide Mutual Fire
Insurance Company, et al., Berks County CCP, No. 98-813

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

As you are aware, a preliminary inspection of your client's vehicle occurred on August 21, 1998 at the Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth Dealership. This inspection lasted approximately one hour and visual observations and superficial hand measurements were made of the vehicle.

I have been told that, in order to properly measure this vehicle to determine if it was improperly repaired, the vehicle will need to be disassembled and placed on a frame measuring instrument. Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth has such an instrument and I am proposing to them, as well as you, that your client's vehicle be taken to Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth, where the vehicle be disassembled and that the front end structural components be properly measured. It is my understanding that only then can a three dimensional measurement for critical points be taken accurately. It is also my understanding that a direct comparison of all dimensions will be essential for a comprehensive vehicle evaluation. This activity will require the removal and reinstallation of numerous components that are retained by mechanical fasteners such as screws, bolts, and/or specialized clips. The removal will likely include, but not be limited to, tires, rocker panel moldings, skid plates, splash shields, bumper cover, grill, header panel, and lamps. The carpeting in the passenger compartment may also need to be lifted to inspect the repairs. It has been estimated that the time to disassemble and reassemble the vehicle will take approximately two days. I am proposing that a Lindgren Collision Repair technician perform all aspects of the disassembly, measuring and reassembling of this vehicle. Appropriate persons on behalf of plaintiffs and Nationwide (and, of course, Lindgren) could be present during this process. Would you please correspond with me as soon as practical as to whether or not your client is willing to go forward with

Berks County, No. 98-813

Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of a 12/24/98 letter from Mr. Nelson's office wherein it states that Summit Bank has accepted Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company's offer to purchase the Berg vehicle.

As you are aware, we have been attempting to make appropriate arrangements for a proper expert inspection of this vehicle for both defendants. Previously, Nationwide wanted to make arrangements for the inspection to take place at Lindgren's body shop and requested to maintain possession of the vehicle over night at the Lindgren facility. After we expressed concern of Defendants maintaining possession of the vehicle over night we attempted to make arrangements for the inspection to take place at a neutral location. Unfortunately that inspection did not take place.

Please be advised that we would request that you maintain the authenticity and integrity of this critical evidence, otherwise we will object to the use of any information derived from the vehicle after you take possession and control. Therefore, we are suggesting that the vehicle be placed into storage at a facility that provides a three way lock to avoid any concerns that might arise during the course of this litigation. We are willing to equally share the cost on this storage arrangement between the three parties.

Please advise if we are in agreement on this point. We would welcome any suggestions regarding an appropriate facility.

Re: Berg v. Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., et al

Dear Mr. Stool:

Please allow this letter to confirm your telephone conversation with Attorney Donald Litman at 8:30 this morning. Therein, we made it clear that we must resolve the storage issue as noted in our letters of December 28, 1998 and January 11, 1999 today.

If you are unable to enter a written agreement whereby the vehicle will be stored in a facility that will ensure the integrity and authenticity of the evidence, we will need to purchase the evidence tomorrow, in accordance with our clients' rights of first option to purchase. Thereafter, the evidence will be maintained for an additional 30 days for both Defendants to complete their inspection. After 30 days the evidence will be sold, with full disclosure, to the highest of three offers.

If either Defendant requires more than 30 days a reasonable extension will be granted. As the record clearly reflects our efforts over the past several months to facilitate an inspection by Defendants' experts, this last minute delay in responding to our reasonable requests merely impedes resolution of our mutual evidentiary concerns.

Please respond to this letter by 3:00 PM today.

Very truly yours,

Ben Mayerson

RE: Berg v. Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth and Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co.

Dear Mr. Litman:

With regard to the storage of the subject vehicle, the Company is willing to certify that it will provide your office with at least 48 hours notice of intent to inspect the vehicle or visit the storage site. The Company is also willing to certify that it will provide your office with access to the storage facility with 48 hours notice of your intent to inspect the vehicle. The Company however, will maintain the keys to the facility. Of course, all reasonable means will be used to protect the integrity of the evidence.

As discussed, the Company has a binding contract with Summit Bank for the purchase of the vehicle and intends to enforce that agreement. Please let me know if this storage arrangement is acceptable to you.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

In response to our conversation of May 8, 1998 during which you advised that your clients intend to dispose of or sell the vehicle which is at issue in this case, please be advised that we do wish to have an expert inspect the vehicle. v.
NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE CO.
Defendants,

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS
BERKS COUNTY

CIVIL ACTION NO.: 98-813

DEFENDANT NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY'S
ANSWERS AND OBJECTIONS TO PLAINTIFFS'
INTERROGATORIES SERVED MAY 28, 2013

Defendant, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company (hereinafter "Nationwide") through its undersigned counsel, Nelson Levine de Luca & Hamilton, LLC, hereby answers and objects to the Interrogatories propounded by Plaintiffs as follows:

1. Please identify and define the term "LEAP" as referenced in the document attached hereto as Exhibit "A", titled "PENNRO LITIGATION STRATEGY - 1993," and as entered into the Bergs' electronic claim file on July 22, 1998, at 10:56 AM, by David Cole.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. In the Opinion directing remand, the Superior Court further stated that this Court should, prior to retrial, conduct an in camera review of all disputed documents to resolve claims of privilege. The Superior Court's opinion does not permit Plaintiffs to re-open discovery, let alone serve new Interrogatories. See, e.g., Ridley Park United Methodist Church v. Zoning Hearing Bd. Ridley Park Township, 920 A.2d 953, 961 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2007) ("where a case is remanded for a specific and limited purpose, 'issues not encompassed within the remand order' may not be decided on remand") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiffs filed this action on May 4, 1998 and discovery in this matter has been closed since December 8, 2005, when Plaintiffs moved to have their bad faith claim certified for trial. Plaintiffs had ample opportunity to obtain any and all discovery prior to the first trial on their cause of action under 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Defendant further objects to Plaintiffs' Interrogatories in that they are untimely, and, pursuant to Pa. R. Civ. P. 4011, are sought in bad faith, and are meant to cause Defendant unreasonable annoyance, oppression, burden and expense. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the trial court lacks jurisdiction to consider additional discovery at trial, given the limited scope of the Superior Court's remand. See, e.g., Ridley Park, supra. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the Interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant and that the Interrogatory is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of relevant or admissible evidence.

2. Pertaining to attorney fees paid through the jury trial in 2004, please provide the total dollar amount Nationwide paid its attorneys in the above captioned case, through the conclusion of the jury trial ending in December of 2004, including post-trial motions filed by Nationwide in 2005.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Ridley Park Township*, 920 A.2d 953, 961 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2007) ("where a case is remanded for a specific and limited purpose, 'issues not encompassed within the remand order' may not be decided on remand") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiffs filed this action on May 4, 1998 and discovery in this matter has been closed since December 8, 2005, when Plaintiffs moved to have their bad faith claim certified for trial. Plaintiffs had ample opportunity to obtain any and all discovery prior to the first trial on their cause of action under 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Defendant further objects to Plaintiffs' Interrogatories in that they are untimely, and, pursuant to Pa. R. Civ. P. 4011, are sought in bad faith, and are meant to cause Defendant unreasonable annoyance, oppression, burden and expense. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the trial court lacks jurisdiction to consider additional discovery at trial, given the limited scope of the Superior Court's remand. See, e.g., Ridley Park, supra. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the Interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant and that the Interrogatory is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of relevant or admissible evidence.

RE: Berg v. Lindgren, Chrysler Plymouth, Inc. and Nationwide Mutual Fire
Insurance Company, et al., Berks County CCP, No. 98-813

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

As you are aware, a preliminary inspection of your client's vehicle occurred on August 21, 1998 at the Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth Dealership. This inspection lasted approximately one hour and visual observations and superficial hand measurements were made of the vehicle.

I have been told that, in order to properly measure this vehicle to determine if it was improperly repaired, the vehicle will need to be disassembled and placed on a frame measuring instrument. Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth has such an instrument and I am proposing to them, as well as you, that your client's vehicle be taken to Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth, where the vehicle be disassembled and that the front end structural components be properly measured. It is my understanding that only then can a three dimensional measurement for critical points be taken accurately. It is also my understanding that a direct comparison of all dimensions will be essential for a comprehensive vehicle evaluation. This activity will require the removal and reinstallation of numerous components that are retained by mechanical fasteners such as screws, bolts, and/or specialized clips. The removal will likely include, but not be limited to, tires, rocker panel moldings, skid plates, splash shields, bumper cover, grill, header panel, and lamps. The carpeting in the passenger compartment may also need to be lifted to inspect the repairs. It has been estimated that the time to disassemble and reassemble the vehicle will take approximately two days. I am proposing that a Lindgren Collision Repair technician perform all aspects of the disassembly-measuring and reassembling of this vehicle. Appropriate persons on behalf of plaintiffs and Nationwide (and, of course, Lindgren) could be present during this process. Would you please correspond with me as soon as practical as to whether or not your client is willing to go forward with

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS

CIVIL ACTION NO.: 98-813

DEFENDANT NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY'S SUPPLEMENTAL ANSWERS AND OBJECTIONS TO PLAINTIFFS'
INTERROGATORIES SERVED MAY 28, 2013

Defendant, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company (hereinafter "Nationwide") through its undersigned counsel, Nelson Levine de Luca & Hamilton, LLC ("NLdH"), hereby answers and objects to the Interrogatories propounded by Plaintiffs as follows:

1. Please identify and define the term "LEAP" as referenced in the document attached hereto as Exhibit "A", titled "PENNRO LITIGATION STRATEGY - 1993," and as entered into the Bergs' electronic claim file on July 22, 1998, at 10:56 AM, by David Cole.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. In the Opinion directing remand, the Superior Court further stated that this Court should, prior to retrial, conduct an in camera review of all disputed documents to resolve claims of privilege. The Superior Court's opinion does not permit Plaintiffs to re-open discovery, let alone serve new Interrogatories. See, e.g., Ridley Park United Methodist Church v. Zoning Hearing Bd. Ridley Park Township, 920 A.2d 953, 961 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2007) ("where a case is remanded for a specific and limited purpose, 'issues not encompassed within the remand order' may not be decided on remand") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). discovery in this matter has been closed since December 8, 2005, when Plaintiffs moved to have their bad faith claim certified for trial. Plaintiffs had ample opportunity to obtain any and all discovery prior to the first trial on their cause of action under 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Defendant further objects to Plaintiffs' Interrogatories in that they are untimely, and, pursuant to Pa. R. Civ. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the trial court lacks jurisdiction to consider additional discovery at trial, given the limited scope of the Superior Court's remand. SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide denies that the term "LEAP" was entered into the Bergs' electronic claim file by David Cole as stated in the Interrogatory. On the contrary, the Activity Log for the Bergs' claim contains a message from Mr. Cole to "Legal LEAP Clerk" stating "New suit opening." During the trial on Plaintiffs' bad faith claim, Mr. Cole testified that he did not recall what LEAP stood for and recalled only that it was a researching system. See Phase II Trial Transcript of Testimony of David Cole, at p. 470 lines 6-10. By way of further answer, Nationwide states that ~~the acronym "LEAP" stands for "Loss Expense Analysis Program." The program is a management information system that stores litigation and expense data for the management of litigation. Information stored in the program can include: profile of pending suits by line of business; incoming suit activity; closing activity; pending suit volumes and trends; suit reserves; expense trends; closing information (settled,~~

SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide states that its outside defense counsel billed Nationwide $1,173,227.50 in fees relating to this matter from its inception through March 31, 2005 and Nationwide paid this amount. These defense costs were incurred in response to Plaintiffs' allegations and the prosecution of this case by Plaintiffs' counsel. Recognizing a wide-ranging attack on Nationwide's business practices, the trial court stated in its opinion that "the pleading and discovery stages of this case took an inordinate amount of time to complete, driven in large part by the multiple, ill-advised attempts by counsel for the Bergs to turn this case into a class action lawsuit." Trial Court Opinion at p. 2; see also Berg docket.

3. Pertaining to all other costs incurred through 2004, please provide the total dollar amount Nationwide expended through the conclusion of the jury trial ending in December of 2004, for all other costs not identified above, specifically including all expert witness fees and related expenses.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. In the Opinion directing remand, the Superior Court further stated that this Court should, prior to retrial, conduct an in camera review of all disputed documents to resolve claims of privilege. The Superior Court's opinion does not permit Plaintiffs to re-open discovery, let alone serve new Interrogatories.

Ct. 2007) (“where a case is remanded for a specific and limited purpose, ‘issues not encompassed within the remand order’ may not be decided on remand”) (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiffs filed this action on May 4, 1998 and discovery in this matter has been closed since December 8, 2005, when Plaintiffs moved to have their bad faith claim certified for trial. Plaintiffs had ample opportunity to obtain any and all discovery prior to the first trial on their cause of action under 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Defendant further objects to Plaintiffs’ Interrogatories in that they are untimely, and, pursuant to Pa. R. Civ. P. 4011, are sought in bad faith, and are meant to cause Defendant unreasonable annoyance, oppression, burden and expense. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the trial court lacks jurisdiction to consider additional discovery at trial, given the limited scope of the Superior Court’s remand. See, e.g., Ridley Park, supra. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the Interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant and that the Interrogatory is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of relevant or admissible evidence.

SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court’s August 21, 2013 Order, ~~Nationwide states that its outside counsel billed Nationwide $682,500.00 in fees relating to this matter from April 1, 2005 through December 31, 2007 and Nationwide paid this amount.~~ These defense costs were incurred in response to Plaintiffs’ allegations and the prosecution of this case by Plaintiffs’ counsel. Recognizing a wide-ranging attack on Nationwide’s business practices, the trial court stated in its opinion that “the pleading and discovery stages of this case took an inordinate amount of time to complete, driven in large part by the multiple, ill-advised attempts by counsel for the Bergs to turn this case into a class action lawsuit.” Trial Court Opinion at p. 2; see also Berg docket.

Dear Counsel:

Please be advised that the inspection of the Berg vehicle can go forward on Wednesday, October 28, 1998. However, we would prefer a neutral location. That location would be at Crawford's Auto Center in Downingtown. They are located on Route 113 (302 W. Uwchlan Avenue). Their phone number is 610-269-1610 and the general manager's name is Steve Behrnt.

Please confirm immediately if you are prepared to go forward with this inspection.

ATTORNEY FOR DEFENDANT
NATIONWIDE MUTUAL
INSURANCE COMPANY

DANIEL BERG and SHERYL BERG
Plaintiffs,
v.
NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE CO.
Defendants,

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS
BERKS COUNTY
CIVIL ACTION NO.: 98-813

DEFENDANT NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY'S SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL ANSWERS AND OBJECTIONS TO PLAINTIFFS'
INTERROGATORIES SERVED MAY 28, 2013

Defendant, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company (hereinafter "Nationwide") through its undersigned counsel, Nelson Levine de Luca & Hamilton, LLC ("NLdH"), hereby answers and objects to the Interrogatories propounded by Plaintiffs as follows:

- 1. Please identify and define the term "LEAP" as referenced in the document attached hereto as Exhibit "A", titled "PENNSRO LITIGATION STRATEGY - 1993," and as entered into the Bergs' electronic claim file on July 22, 1998, at 10:56 AM, by David Cole.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. In the Opinion directing remand, the Superior Court further stated that this Court should, prior to retrial, conduct an in camera review of all disputed documents to resolve claims of privilege. The Superior Court's opinion does not permit Plaintiffs to re-open discovery, let alone serve new Interrogatories. See, e.g., Ridley Park United Methodist Church v. Zoning Hearing Bd. Ridley Park Township, 920 A.2d 953, 961 (Pa. Commw. Ct. 2007) ("where a case is remanded for a specific and limited purpose, 'issues not encompassed within the remand order' may not be decided on remand") (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). Plaintiffs filed this action on May 4, 1998 and discovery in this matter has been closed since December 8, 2005, when Plaintiffs moved to have their bad faith claim certified for trial. Plaintiffs had ample opportunity to obtain any and all discovery prior to the first trial on their cause of action under 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. Defendant further objects to Plaintiffs' Interrogatories in that they are untimely, and, pursuant to Pa. R. Civ. P. 4011, are sought in bad faith, and are meant to cause Defendant unreasonable annoyance, oppression, burden and expense. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the trial court lacks jurisdiction to consider additional discovery at trial, given the limited scope of the Superior Court's remand. See, e.g., Ridley Park, supra. Defendant further objects on the grounds that the Interrogatory seeks information that is irrelevant and that the Interrogatory is not reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of relevant or admissible evidence.

SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide denies that the term "LEAP" was entered into the Bergs' electronic claim file by David Cole as stated in the Interrogatory. On the contrary, the Activity Log for the Bergs' claim contains a message from Mr. Cole to "Legal LEAP Clerk" stating "New suit opening." During the trial on Plaintiffs' bad faith claim, Mr. Cole testified that he did not recall what LEAP stood for and recalled only that it was a researching system. See Phase II Trial Transcript of Testimony of David Cole, at p. 470 lines 6-10. By way of further answer, Nationwide states that the acronym "LEAP" stands for "Loss Expense Analysis Program." The program is a management information system that stores litigation and expense data for the management of litigation. Information stored in the program can include: profile of pending suits by line of business; incoming suit activity; closing activity; pending suit volumes and trends; suit reserves; expense trends; closing information (settled,

2. Pertaining to attorney fees paid through the jury trial in 2004, please provide the total dollar amount Nationwide paid its attorneys in the above captioned case, through the conclusion of the jury trial ending in December of 2004, including post-trial motions filed by Nationwide in 2005.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. In the Opinion directing remand, the Superior Court further stated that this Court should, prior to retrial, conduct an in camera review of all disputed documents to resolve claims of privilege. The Superior Court's opinion does not permit Plaintiffs to re-open discovery, let alone serve new Interrogatories. *See, e.g., Ridley Park United Methodist Church v. Zoning Hearing Bd. SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide states that its outside defense counsel billed Nationwide $1,173,227.50 in fees relating to this matter from its inception through March 31, 2005 and Nationwide paid this amount. These defense costs were incurred in response to Plaintiffs' allegations and the prosecution of this case by Plaintiffs' counsel. Recognizing a wide-ranging attack on Nationwide's business practices, the trial court stated in its opinion that "the pleading and discovery stages of this case took an inordinate amount of time to complete, driven in large part by the multiple, ill-advised attempts by counsel for the Bergs to turn this case into a class action lawsuit." Trial Court Opinion at p. 2; see also Berg docket.

3. Pertaining to all other costs incurred through 2004, please provide the total dollar amount Nationwide expended through the conclusion of the jury trial ending in December of 2004, for all other costs not identified above, specifically including all expert witness fees and related expenses.

OBJECTION: Objection. The Superior Court remanded the instant litigation to this Court only for a new trial on Plaintiffs' claim pursuant to 42 Pa. C.S.A. § 8371. SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide states that its outside counsel billed Nationwide $24,092.37 in costs and expenses relating to this matter from its inception through March 31, 2005 and Nationwide paid this amount. These defense costs were incurred in response to Plaintiffs' allegations and the prosecution of this case by Plaintiffs' counsel. Recognizing a wide-ranging attack on Nationwide's business practices, the trial court stated in its opinion that "the pleading and discovery stages of this case took an inordinate amount of time to complete, driven in large part by the multiple, ill-advised attempts by counsel for the Bergs to turn this case into a class action lawsuit." Trial Court Opinion at p. 2; see also Berg docket.

SECOND SUPPLEMENTAL RESPONSE: Subject to and without waiving the above objections, and pursuant to the Court's August 21, 2013 Order, Nationwide supplements the above Interrogatory response. Upon further investigation, counsel has determined that some invoices submitted by Nationwide's experts were paid by Nationwide directly. Counsel reviewed copies of invoices and correspondence and determined that Nationwide was billed $86,509.82 in costs and expenses relating to this matter from its inception through March 31, 2005.

RE: Berg v. Lindgren, Chrysler Plymouth, Inc. and Nationwide Mutual Fire
Insurance Company, et al., Berks County CCP, No. 98-313

Dear Mr. Mayerson:

This follows our conversation of November 17, 1998. At that time I advised you that Nationwide would like to consider purchasing the Berg vehicle from either the Bergs or from the lessee.

If that purchase does occur, it is anticipated that Nationwide will move the subject vehicle to a location for safekeeping. Appropriate measures will be taken to protect the vehicle from any further damage and/or tampering. At some mutually convenient date, Nationwide would arrange to have the vehicle dismantled and your client and/or Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth would be allowed to inspect same in that condition.

During our discussions, the subject came up as to which location would be responsible for the storage of the automobile. I envisioned it would be a repair shop that would ultimately be responsible for the tear down of the vehicle to allow this inspection. You suggested a repair facility such as Crawford for those purposes. It is my understanding that Crawford would want compensation for the costs associated with tear down. You and I did not resolve who would be responsible for those costs. We will have to work those issues out as we progress further. In the

I felt the costs should be spread equally among the parties and you felt that they should be borne solely by Nationwide.

Mr. Mayerson, the issues explained in the December 11, 2013 letter still exist and will be addressed on Tuesday. With respect to "updated amounts for fees and costs through current," this can be resolved through the production of updated figures based on counsel billing records as time through December has not been billed. With respect to "LEAP data," our current understanding is that LEAP has not been in use since 2002.

Subject: Berg v. Nationwide - Notice to Attend Regarding LEAP data

Dear Counsel,

I am in receipt of your letter to Judge Sprecher, faxed December 11, 2013.

This is our reply.

1. On May 28, 2003, Nationwide was served with six interrogatories.
2. One sought a definition of "LEAP" [Litigation Expense Analysis Program].
3. The other five sought amounts Nationwide paid to defend this case through April 24, 2013.
4. Nationwide objected.
5. The Bergs filed a Motion to Overrule Objections.
6. On August 26, 2013, an Order was entered requiring "verified" answers to all six interrogatories.
7. On September 23, 2013, Nationwide provided "verified" answers to the six interrogatories but claimed only $27,375.72 in expert witness fees/costs.
8. On November 1, 2013, a Subpoena was Served Upon Saul Ewing, LLP, requiring a Record Custodian to appear at trial with all invoices and payments pertaining to Nationwide's expert, Attorney Constance Foster.
9. On November 11, 2013, two Notices to Appear were served upon Nationwide to provide a witness on fees through December of 2013.
10. On November 20, 2013, Nationwide filed a Motion to Quash Subpoena to Saul Ewing and to Quash Notices to Attend to Nationwide.
11. On December 3, 2013, Nationwide produced a Second Supplemental answer to interrogatories on expert fees, admitting it paid $137,239.82 in expert fees and costs, not $27,375.72.
12. On December 4, 2013, a hearing was held and an Order entered quashing the subpoena by agreement because it was determined Nationwide would be required to produce a designated witness to bring the LEAP data to trial, and to answer questions regarding Nationwide's verified answers to interrogatories and to update its fees and costs.
13. On December 9, 2013, Nationwide was granted another hearing, by telephone, wherein Nationwide again claimed its verified answers to interrogatories, now corrected with a second supplemental answer, was sufficient and it should not be required to produce a witness at trial.

- 14. On December 9, 2013, the Court, per Judge Sprecher, denied Nationwide's request by phone conference.
- 15. On December 11, 2013, Nationwide faxed a letter to Judge Sprecher advising that it might be unable to identify a witness to attend trial and that it is "difficult to cull" the requested information on fees and costs because the records date back to 1998 and Nationwide has "multiple billing systems over the years."

We need to know whether Nationwide is complying with the Court's Orders of December 4, 2013.

This would include a witness or witnesses for the following areas of question:

- 1. Answer questions regarding Nationwide's verified Answers to Interrogatories on Fees and Costs;
- 2. Provide updated amounts for fees and costs through current; and,
- 3. Bring the Legal Expense Analysis Program (LEAP) data for the Berg litigation, defined and verified by Nationwide as, "management information system that stores litigation and expense data for the management of litigation."

See Nationwide's verified Supplemental Answers to Interrogatories Served May 28, 2013.

Nationwide's letter of December 11, 2013, begs the question: if Nationwide has a "management information system that stores litigation and expense data for the management of litigation," then why is it "difficult to cull this information," per your letter of December 11, 2013.

This does not make sense, and therefore not credible.

Nationwide is an insurance company. Insurance Companies are known for, indeed required to, account for every penny that is expended.

Please specify which of the three items Nationwide is having trouble preparing, and why. If there is non-compliance with the Orders, I will be requesting a negative inference that the amount Nationwide paid its attorneys is substantially more than claimed in the verified answers to interrogatories. This negative inference would be further supported by Nationwide's prior "error" wherein it claimed expert witness fees were only $27,375.72, when in actuality the expert fees and costs exceeded $137,000. That is a 500% increase/error. This is not the type of error that is mere oversight.

Subject: Agent Defections

We all recognize the impact agent defections are having on our operations and the importance that all of our offices do everything reasonably possible to slow down or end these defections and control the damage that results when an agent defects and tries to roll a book of business. To try to keep this issue in focus with respect to the contributions our office can make to our overall effort, I wanted to lay out the activities that our Office has been involved with to date, most of which are ongoing, and outline how we can continue to assist management further on this issue.

- We have various litigation pending in New York and Pennsylvania whereby we are attempting to stop agents from engaging in competitive practices which we view as unfair, or in the alternative, to recover money damages from those agents. In this regard, I think it is important to note that the primary purpose of this litigation is not to actually have a court order the agents to get out of the insurance business and stop soliciting our customers. Certainly we want to make every effort to achieve those results, but it is not a reasonable expectation.

The primary purpose of our litigation efforts has been to send a message to the remaining Nationwide agents and the companies which are recruiting our agents that we will not sit idly by and allow books of business to be rolled and that there will be a price to pay for defecting and competing.

We think it is important that management recognize that our contract provides the remedy available to us in cases where an agent terminates and competes. The remedy available to us is to discontinue agency security compensation. Unless some significant activity against Nationwide's interest takes place while the agents are still under contract with us, the likelihood of getting money damages is remote. To obtain injunctive relief, we are required to show "irreparable harm", that is, harm which cannot be remedied by money damages being awarded to Nationwide, which is a substantial burden for a company as large as ours. Regardless of these rather significant challenges, we will continue to pursue all reasonable legal options.

- We have collected the facts necessary in Pennsylvania to file a complaint with the insurance department regarding some of the practices of the Moraine Group. Early indications are that the Insurance department is taking our complaint seriously and is investigating the matter with our cooperation on an expedited basis. With the assistance of New York management, we are investigating whether there are similar practices and adequate documentation of such in New York to try a similar approach. We have also assisted Ohio management with issues related to isolated cases of defection.
- We have assisted the Office of Agency on the Reflex Action Plan and also served on Mike Casey's project, "Defense To Nationwide Agency Acquisitions", which was completed with various recommendations being made.
- We researched current law regarding "no-compete" contract provisions and reviewed the State Farm contracts which Agency provided to us. Based on that research, we made recommendations for changes to our current agent agreement, including a proposal to change our current piracy provisions which would entitle us to injunctive relief after the agent has been with us for more than five years, an option which is not provided for today. We also made suggestions for strengthening our claims that policyholder information is proprietary and the property of Nationwide. We are prepared to discuss further what management would like to do with respect to those recommendations.

With respect to our activities in the future, we will continue to take aggressive legal actions in Pennsylvania and New York wherever the facts support such actions. However, it is important for management to provide us with as much information as possible in an orderly fashion on a timely basis so that we can evaluate it and then work closely with state and home office management on the kind of actions we may be able to pursue.

Randy Orr will continue to take the lead for our Office in Pennsylvania and George Macklin and Lindsey McCutchan will take the lead for New York. Other than a financed agent who was cancelled and is competing in Maine, we are not aware of an agent defection problem in Maine, Connecticut, or any other states. If there are others, we will be glad to assist if the situation is brought to our attention. Please let us know if you would like us to pursue any other activity at this time and we will be glad to do so.

OPINION IN SUPPORT OF AFFIRMANCE

Justice EAKIN.

Appellants, Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company, et al., sued several former agents and their respective insurance agencies, collectively appellees, for breach of contract and intentional interference with contractual relations. Appellants asserted appellees accessed confidential policyholder information on appellants' computer network and provided the information to competitors upon leaving appellants' employ. Appellees argued they were merely participating in permissible post-termination competition, and appellants did not have any proprietary interest in the information. On this basis, appellees counterclaimed, contending appellants brought suit in bad faith. A bench trial ensued.

During trial, appellees' counsel questioned appellants' former president regarding several documents appellants produced during discovery, including Document 529, which they sought to introduce to support their counterclaim. Appellants contended the attorney-client privilege protected Document 529, and only disclosed its recipient list, date, and subject line; they redacted the substantive content. The privileged nature of Document 529 is the issue underlying this *66 appeal; it was filed under seal and remains sealed.

An attorney from appellants' general counsel authored Document 529 and sent it to 15 of appellants' employees, including officers, managers, and three other attorneys. Generally, Document 529 contains this counsel's assessment of the agent defections and appellants' strategy underlying the lawsuits against its former agents. It further states appellants cannot reasonably expect the lawsuits to succeed, and states the "primary purpose" of the litigation is to send a message to current employees contemplating defection.

The trial court held an in camera hearing to determine whether the attorney-client privilege applied to Document 529. Appellees argued appellants waived any privilege when they disclosed Documents 314 and 395, also regarding agent defections. Like Document 529, Document 314 was authored by an attorney from appellants' general counsel office; it outlined why appellants severed their relationship with certain agents and noted the necessity of obtaining information from defecting agents in order to consider appellants' legal options against them and their new employers. It was addressed to seven of appellants' employees, including two other attorneys in appellants' general counsel office. Document 395 was authored by appellants' agency administration director. It set forth additions and changes to the "Reflex Action Plan," appellants' policy for dealing with agent defections, and was sent to 35 of appellants' employees and officers.

The trial court held the voluntary disclosure of Documents 314 and 395 waived the attorney-client privilege with respect to Document 529. It determined appellants used the privilege to their advantage by producing communications in support of their position, but withheld Document 529 as privileged because it did not support their position; the court stated "the attorney-client privilege cannot be used as both a shield and a sword." Trial Court Opinion, 2/16/05, at 4.

Appellants appealed and requested a stay, which the trial court granted. The Superior Court granted appellees' motion to quash the appeal for lack of jurisdiction. By per curiam order, this Court granted review, vacated the Superior Court's order, and remanded to the Superior Court for further proceedings. Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company v. Fleming, 586 Pa. 622, 896 A.2d 565 (2006) (Nationwide I).

The Superior Court affirmed the trial court's decision regarding Document 529 on alternative grounds. Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company v. Fleming, 924 A.2d 1259, 1269 (Pa.Super.2007) (Nationwide II).<sup>1</sup> Citing codification of the attorney-client privilege, 42 Pa.C.S. § 5928, the court determined it protects only confidential communications from a client to an attorney "made in connection with the providing of legal services or advice." Nationwide II, at 1264 (citations omitted). Communications from attorney to client are privileged only to the extent they contain and would reveal confidential communications from the client. Id.

The court initially set forth Pennsylvania's two-part inquiry for determining whether the attorney-client privilege applies to preclude disclosure: whether the privilege applies to a communication, and if it does, whether client waiver or an exception applies to overcome the privilege and allow disclosure. Id., at 1265-66. The Superior Court also held the client can waive the privilege by disclosing the communication *67 at issue to a third party. Id., at 1265. Additionally, federal decisions have held that when a communication protected by the privilege is voluntarily disclosed, the privilege is waived "for all communications pertaining to the same subject matter." Id. (emphasis in original).

The court noted Document 529 was a communication from counsel to a corporate client, addressing agent defections. Since the privilege only protects attorney-to-client communications containing and revealing confidential client-to-attorney communications, and Document 529 neither contained nor revealed such communications, the court concluded it did not satisfy the requirements for the privilege's protection. Id., at 1268.

Whether the Superior Court erred as a matter of law in holding that the attorney-client privilege did not apply to a confidential memorandum written by [appellants] in-house senior counsel to its senior executives and attorneys which related to pending and future litigation and reflects confidential information previously shared by the client with the attorney, as well as the attorney's legal advice?

Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company v. Fleming, 594 Pa. 311, 935 A.2d 1270 (2007). Since the privilege is codified at 42 Pa.C.S. § 5928, this is a question of statutory interpretation, and a pure question of law. Commonwealth v. Bortz, 589 Pa. 431, 909 A.2d 1221, 1223 (2006). Questions of law are subject to a de novo standard of review, and our scope of review is plenary. Craley v. State Farm Fire and Casualty Company, 586 Pa. 484, 895 A.2d 530, 539 n. 14 (2006). "The object of all interpretation and construction of statutes is to ascertain and effectuate the intention of the General Assembly. Every statute shall be construed, if possible, to give effect to all its provisions." 1 Pa.C.S. § 1921(a). "When the words of a statute are clear and free from all ambiguity, they are presumed to be the best indication of legislative intent." Chanceford Aviation Properties, L.L.P. v. Chanceford Township Board of Supervisors, 592 Pa. 100, 923 A.2d 1099, 1104 (2007) (citation omitted). We address only the privilege as applied to attorney-to-client communications and emphasize this case does not involve the work-product doctrine; appellants have claimed only the attorney-client privilege. Neither party has challenged the enactment of an attorney-client privilege statute on the grounds it is a procedural rule in violation of Article V, § 10(c) of the Pennsylvania Constitution.<sup>2</sup>

Appellants argue the Superior Court's holding chills, if not negates, the attorney-client privilege's purpose-to foster confidence and dialogue between attorney and client to benefit the administration of justice, citing In re: Investigating Grand Jury of Philadelphia County No. 88-00-3503, 527 Pa. 432, 593 A.2d 402, 406 (1991). Appellants also claim the court's decision is at odds with National Bank of West Grove v. Earle, 196 Pa. 217, 46 A. 268 (1900), holding the privilege applies to all *68 attorney-to-client communications. Id., at 269. The Superior Court did not mention Earle; appellants ask this Court to reaffirm Earle's vitality, though it has not been cited by this Court since it was decided. Appellants contend, pursuant to the Statutory Construction Act, 1 Pa.C.S. § 1922(4),<sup>3</sup> the reenactment of 28 P.S. § 321 at 42 Pa.C.S. § 5928, without substantive changes, evidenced an intent for the codification to be construed as in Earle.

Appellees argue the Superior Court's holding correctly applied § 5928 and Pennsylvania's case law. Appellees first assert Document 529 does not contain or reveal confidential client-to-attorney communications, but contains only legal advice. If this document is found to be privileged, they contend appellants waived the privilege by selectively disclosing similar subject matter in an attempt to gain a tactical advantage. Appellees cite Murray v. Gemplus International, 217 F.R.D. 362 (E.D.Pa.2003) (where party attempts to utilize privilege as weapon, via selectively disclosing communications, party waives privilege), and Minatronics v. Buchanan Ingersoll, 23 Pa. D. & C.4th 1, 18-21 (Allegheny Co.1995) (voluntary disclosure of confidential information to gain tactical advantage waives attorney-client privilege for all communications involving same subject matter). Appellees finally assert legal opinions are discoverable where they are directly relevant to a cause of action.

The purpose of the attorney-client privilege is "to encourage full and frank communication between attorneys and their clients and thereby promote broader public interests in the observance of law and administration of justice." Upjohn Company v. United States, 449 U.S. 383, 389, 101 S.Ct. 677, 66 L.Ed.2d 584 (1981); see also In re: Investigating Grand Jury of Philadelphia County, at 406 (recognizing privilege's purpose is to create atmosphere encouraging confidence and dialogue between attorney and client, and intended beneficiary is not client so much as administration of justice). Upjohn further provided, "The privilege recognizes that sound legal advice or advocacy serves public ends and that such advice or advocacy depends upon the lawyer's being fully informed by the client." Upjohn, at 389, 101 S.Ct. 677.

Pennsylvania codified the privilege in 1887. See Act of May 23, 1887, P.L. 158, § 5d (formerly 28 P.S. § 321). This privilege statute was reenacted in 1976 without substantive changes and states, "In a civil matter counsel shall not be competent or permitted to testify to confidential communications made to him by his client, nor shall the client be compelled to disclose the same, unless in either case this privilege is waived upon the trial by the client." 42 Pa.C.S. § 5928.

"[O]nce the attorney-client communications have been disclosed to a third party, the privilege is deemed waived." Joe v. Prison Health Services, Inc., 782 A.2d 24, 31 (Pa.Cmwlth.2001). Like the trial court, I would find this matter turns on waiver. The trial court relied on Minatronics, an Allegheny County Court of Common Pleas decision, for the proposition voluntarily disclosing confidential communications "waive [s] the privilege as to every confidential communication ... involving the same subject matter." Minatronics, at 18; see Trial Court Opinion, 2/16/ 05, at 3. The issue in Minatronics was whether the inadvertent disclosure of confidential communications *69 waived the privilege as to other confidential communications containing the same subject matter. The Minatronics court also noted significant support for the position that such disclosure does not waive the privilege "where there is no apparent prejudice to the party seeking further disclosure[,] because "where it is clear that the limited disclosure is not being used [as a sword and a shield], there is no justification for applying a subject matter waiver." Minatronics, at 19-20. The court held the inadvertent disclosures at issue did not waive the attorney-client privilege, and further opined, "the law should not discourage parties from voluntarily disclosing confidential communications (unless made for the purpose of achieving a tactical advantage) by adopting a rule of law that causes voluntary disclosures to operate as a waiver of other confidential communications involving the same subject matter." Id., at 20-21.

The trial court also relied on Murray, a United States District Court decision from the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, holding the defendant waived its attorney-client privilege as to intentionally disclosed documents and their subject matter. Murray, at 367. The Murray court noted the defendant "seems to have produced only the documents that are most beneficial to its defense...." Id., at 366. Murray found "the argument that when one party intentionally discloses privileged material with the aim, in whole or in part, of furthering that party's case, the party waives its attorney-client privilege with respect to the subject-matter of the disclosed communications" persuasive. Id., at 367.

The reasoning in Murray and Minatronics is instructive. Appellants never alleged Documents 314 and 395 are privileged or were unintentionally disclosed. Rather, appellants claim Documents 314 and 395 are business communications which do not contain confidential communications made in connection with providing legal services or advice. Read together, however, Documents 314, 395, and 529 contain the same subject matter-appellants' response to agent defections. Document 529 contains counsel's opinion-based outline regarding the ongoing activities for dealing with the defections, specifically, litigation efforts in Pennsylvania and New York. In Document 529, counsel states the litigation's primary purpose-to send a message to current employees contemplating defection-and concedes the likelihood of receiving a damages award is remote. Counsel notes his office's participation in modifying the Reflex Action Plan, and suggests edits for appellants' no-compete contract.

Like Document 529, Document 314 was authored by an attorney in appellants' general counsel office and the words "privileged and confidential" appear in its heading. Documents 314 and 529 contain counsel's understanding of the agent defections. Like Document 529, Document 395 discusses the Reflex Action Plan. Document 395 explains modifications to the Reflex Action Plan in order to efficiently deal with a large agent defection, a product of counsel's advice and input, as noted by counsel in Document 529.

Thus, the disclosure of Documents 314 and 395 form the basis of subject matter waiver of the attorney-client privilege regarding Document 529, the scope of which extends to Document 529 because it contains the same subject matter. What distinguishes Document 529 from Documents 314 and 395 is counsel's unflattering concessions regarding the litigation's purpose and prospect of succeeding. As in Murray, appellants seem to have produced only the documents beneficial to their case by disclosing Documents 314 and 395, and withholding Document 529 based on its *70 privileged nature. I believe appellants waived the attorney-client privilege with respect to the subject of agent defections upon disclosing Documents 314 and 395, and cannot claim the privilege applies to a document containing the same subject matter, as well as potentially damaging admissions. Because I conclude this matter turns on waiver, I would decline to address the merits.

Justice BAER joins this Opinion in Support of Affirmance.

OPINION IN SUPPORT OF REVERSAL

Justice SAYLOR.

I respectfully differ with the determination of the Justices favoring affirmance that, because Appellants voluntarily disclosed Documents 314 and 395, they waived the attorney-client privilege with respect to Document 529. See Opinion in Support of Affirmance, at 69-70.

As a preliminary matter, I recognize that this case presents a threshold issue of first impression, specifically, whether the same subject matter waiver doctrine should be adopted by this Court, as it has been in the federal arena. See Fed.R.Evid. 502(a) & advisory committee notes.<sup>1</sup> Notably, federal courts have supplied factors for courts to consider when applying the doctrine. See, e.g., Fort James Corp. v. Soto Cup Co., 412 F.3d 1340, 1349-50 (Fed.Cir.2005) (“There is no bright line test for determining what constitutes the subject matter of a waiver, rather courts weigh the circumstances of the disclosure, the nature of the legal advice sought[,], and the prejudice to the parties of permitting or prohibiting further disclosures.” (citation omitted)).

Applying such a subject matter litmus, it seems that Appellants have not waived the attorney-client privilege with respect to Document 529, because Documents 314 and 395, which were disclosed, do not appear to contain the same subject matter as Document 529. As a general principle, when assessing whether a party has implicitly waived the attorney-client privilege, we start with the unarguable proposition that the attorney-client privilege is highly valued. Accordingly, courts should be cautious about finding implied waivers. Claims of implied waiver must be evaluated in light of principles of logic and fairness. That evaluation demands a fastidious sifting of the facts and a careful weighing of the circumstances. Considering the need for this precise, fact-specific [examination], it is not surprising that the case law reveals few genuine instances of implied waiver.

In re Keeper of Records (Grand Jury Subpoena Addressed to XYZ Corp.), 348 F.3d 16, 23 (1st Cir.2003) (citations omitted).

Facially, Documents 314, 395, and 529 pertain to the “same subject matter,” in the broadest sense of the phrase, as they all deal with some aspect of agent defections. See Opinion in Support of Affirmance, at 69-70. Document 395 describes the Reflex Action Plan (the practices that Appellants’ agencies should follow when agents defect), Document 314 includes counsel’s understanding regarding the defection of certain agents, and Document 529 summarizes the legal actions taken by Appellants concerning agent defections. See R.R. 31a-62a.

*71 However, a closer examination of the communications highlights their differences. Document 395 is a comprehensive business manual detailing the various practices that should be applied when dealing with defecting agents. See id. at 32a-62a. Document 314 is a one-page e-mail drafted by an in-house attorney that specifies, by way of four bullet points, his understanding of the defection of four agents in Pennsylvania. See id. at 31a. Notably, Document 314 states, inter alia, that, “[O]ur office will begin assessing and preparing to execute our legal options, both against the agents and possibly the companies they are moving to, and will advise management of those options for a decision.” R.R. at 31a.

By contrast, although it is also written by in-house counsel, Document 529 describes, among other things, the present litigation in several states involving Appellants, their former agents, and their new companies. Namely, it discusses the nature of these suits, the money damages sought, the purpose behind the litigation, Appellants’ likelihood of success, and the other remedies available to Appellants against defecting agents. It also includes counsel’s recommendations regarding Appellants’ use of specific contract provisions, as well as the possibility of filing complaints with the insurance departments of certain states. Accordingly, given the principle that courts should be cautious in finding an implied waiver of the attorney-client privilege, and the contents of the communications, it seems that Appellants did not waive the attorney-client privilege with respect to Document 529 by disclosing Documents 314 and 395.

In addressing the scope of the attorney-client privilege, I agree with the Justices favoring affirmance that Document 529 reveals confidential client communications. See Opinion in Support of Affirmance, at 68-69. For example, in the opening passage of the memorandum, the in-house-attorney author relates the collective knowledge held by management and in-house counsel regarding the operational impact of agent defections and a business-related judgment, which apparently had been made concerning the necessity of all reasonably possible responsive action. This passage both reveals information apparently communicated by management and, more generally, reflects in-house counsel's knowledge apparently derived from familiarity with business aspects. The memorandum proceeds to detail strategies that appear to reflect prior decisions made by management upon legal consultation, rather than pure legal advice.

I agree with amici curiae, The Association of Corporate Counsel, Pennsylvania Bar Association, Philadelphia Bar Association, Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, and Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry, that Document 529 exemplifies the substantial difficulty with a narrow approach to the attorney-client privilege rigidly centered on the identification of specific client communications, in that attorney advice and client input are often inextricably intermixed. See Brief for Amici The Ass'n of Corporate Counsel, et al. at 20 ("[T]he communication clearly was made for the purpose of providing legal advice and necessarily draws on, and cannot be separated from[,] the Appellants' communications with counsel. If analysis and legal opinions such as that expressed by counsel in Document 529 were not deemed privileged, in-house counsel would be prevented from effectively performing the professional duties for which they were hired and their clients would not be afforded the protection of lawyer-client confidentiality that *72 they have a right to expect.").<sup>3</sup> As succinctly explained by amici curiae Energy Association of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Telephone Association:

[Many business enterprises] conduct their businesses in highly regulated environments, and they rely on their counsel—particularly those in their own legal departments—to monitor changes in statutes and regulations and judicial and agency interpretations of the law and then to advise corporate managers about those changes and how corporations should respond to them. They likewise rely on their in-house lawyers to serve as ongoing monitors of corporate compliance with the law. The lawyers who regularly serve the Amici Associations' members, especially the counsel who are full-time employees, are exposed to a continuous stream of client communications (many of which are clearly confidential client communications in the traditional sense). These client communications are not only oral and written, but are observational as well. A business that brings a lawyer inside its operations does so with the expectation that the lawyer will observe its operations, so that the lawyer can proactively render advice without waiting for a formal, discrete request. Providing the opportunity for such observation is a form of client communication to the lawyer and is, in essence, a standing request for legal advice. The lawyer's advice, in turn, is necessarily based on the totality of client communications.

To disclose the lawyer's advice is necessarily to disclose something about the operation of the client's business that was communicated to the lawyer through various media, including the lawyer's privileged observations....

The Superior Court's holding is based on a narrow, formalistic view of attorney/client communications that is unrealistic. It fails to account for the full panoply of responsibilities lawyers—particularly "in-house" lawyers—have to counsel their corporate clients about an increasingly broad array of ever-changing legal requirements. The Superior Court's holding, if not reversed, is likely to create unnecessary impediments to the counseling of clients and could undermine one of the important goals of the privilege: frank communication to aid in compliance with the law and otherwise to provide necessary legal representation. Because businesses must operate in an increasingly complex legal environment, a closer, rather than more formal and distant relationship should be encouraged between client and counsel. A reliably confidential relationship between counsel and client is needed more than ever for companies to operate as the good citizens the people of the Commonwealth expect them to be.

Brief for Amici Energy Ass'n of Pa. and Pa. Tel. Ass'n at 1-3.<sup>3</sup>

*73 According to the above amici, the Superior Court's opinion "poses inordinate practical difficulties" that make it administratively and judicially unworkable. Brief for Amici The Ass'n of Corporate Counsel, et al. at 15 (quoting Spectrum Sys. Int'l Corp. v. Chem. Bank, 78 N.Y.2d 371, 575 N.Y.S.2d 809, 581 N.E.2d 1055, 1061 (1991)); see also id. ("Because the Superior Court's holding rests on an unrealistic dichotomy between confidential client communications and a lawyer's providing of legal services, lawyers, clients, and judges will vary widely in their determinations of what attorney communications are privileged and the application of the privilege will become uncertain."'). The argument continues:

The practical difficulties of determining when a lawyer's communications incorporate or otherwise tacitly refer to a client's communications "lead[s] to uncertainty as to when the privilege will apply." [LTV Secs. Litig., 89 F.R.D. at 603]. Yet, "if the purpose of the attorney-client privilege is to be served, the attorney and client must be able to predict with some degree of certainty whether particular discussions will be protected." Upjohn [Co. v. United States], 449 U.S. [383.] 392 [101 S.Ct. 677, 66 L.Ed.2d 584] (1981). The Superior Court's holding will reduce Pennsylvania's attorneys to guessing when their own legal advice may be privileged, leaves clients uncertain as to when their lawyers' communications are confidential, and, consequently, will significantly disrupt the free and candid exchange of information between attorneys and clients. "An uncertain privilege, or one which purports to be certain but results in widely varying applications by the courts, is little better than no privilege at all." Id. at 393 [101 S.Ct. 677].

Brief for Amici The Ass'n of Corporate Counsel, et al. at 16.

While I acknowledge that the core concern underlying the attorney-client privilege is the protection of client communications, due to the unavoidable intertwining of such communication and responsive advice, I would remain with the pragmatic approach reflected in Nat'l Bank of West Grove v. Earle, 196 Pa. 217, 221, 46 A. 268, 269 (1900). Although this may inevitably extend some degree of overprotection, I find it to be consistent with the policies underlying the privilege and the relevant legislative direction, particularly in light of the principle of statutory construction pertaining to legislative reenactments. See 1 Pa.C.S. § 1922 ("[W]hen a court of last resort has construed the language used in a statute, the General Assembly in subsequent statutes on the same subject matter intends the same construction to be placed upon such language."), <sup>4</sup> Moreover, the approach <sup>*74</sup> is consistent with that of a majority of jurisdictions, accord Restatement (Third) of the Law Governing Lawyers §§ 68-70 & § 69 cmt. i (2000), which yields greater consistency for the many corporations doing interstate business. I recognize that this Court has issued a few decisions in tension with Earle; however, none has entailed a deeper reassessment of the attorney-client privilege in Pennsylvania, as this case was selected to achieve. <sup>5</sup>

For the above reasons, I would reverse the order of the Superior Court.

RE: Account #09316

Dear Ms. McMahon:

DEFENDANT NATIONWIDE MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY'S
OBJECTIONS AND ANSWERS TO PLAINTIFFS' MARCH 21, 2003,
REQUEST FOR ADMISSIONS

Defendant Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company ("Nationwide"), by and through its undersigned counsel, and in accordance with its agreement with the Plaintiffs to respond by May 5, 2003, hereby objects to and answers Plaintiffs' March 21, 2003 Request for Admissions directed to Defendant Nationwide as follows:

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 1:

Defendant Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company, through its Blue Ribbon manager Stephen Potasnak, had an opportunity to inspect the repair work at issue in this litigation in April of 1998.

ANSWER 1:

Nationwide objects to the term "had an opportunity" as vague and ambiguous. Without waiving any objections, the request is denied as stated. It is admitted that Property Damage Specialist Stephen Potasnak inspected the repair work on or about April 28, 1998. Plaintiffs are further directed to Mr. Potosnak's deposition of October 11, 2000.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 2:

Following the inspection of the Bergs' vehicle in April of 1998, Stephen Potosnak made an entry in the Nationwide Claim Log that the inspection confirmed several problems with the repairs to the vehicle.

ANSWER 2:

Denied as stated. It is admitted that following his inspection of the Bergs' vehicle on or about April 28, 1998, Mr. Potosnak made an entry in the activity log reflecting that his inspection revealed that the repairs to the vehicle were not properly performed. See unredacted portion of activity log at pages 4-5, attached hereto as Exhibit "A." Plaintiffs are further directed to Mr. Potosnak's deposition of October 11, 2000.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 3:

Defendant Nationwide did not notify the Bergs, or the Bergs' law firm, that the April of 1998 inspection confirmed problems with the repairs until April 14, 1999; the date Defendant Nationwide produced the Claim Log.

ANSWER 3:

Denied as stated. It is admitted that by the time of Mr. Potosnak's inspection on or about April 28, 1998, which revealed that the repairs were not properly performed, plaintiffs had already commenced litigation against Lindgren and counsel for plaintiffs made it clear that Nationwide was a likely defendant per his correspondence dated April 22, 1998, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit "B." Plaintiffs in fact commenced litigation against Nationwide shortly after Mr. Potosnak performed his inspection. Litigation was clearly anticipated against Nationwide at the time of his inspection. Moreover, shortly thereafter, as the record demonstrates, Nationwide attempted to assist the Bergs with their repair-related issues, but it became clear that the Bergs were more interested in litigating against Nationwide than they were about resolving their repair-related issues.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 4:

Defendant Nationwide inspected the Berg vehicle in April of 1998, without providing notice to Bergs prior to the inspection taking place.

ANSWER 4:

Denied. See unredacted portion of activity log at pages 4-5, attached hereto as Exhibit "A," noting that Mr. Potosnak's inspection on or about April 28, 1998 was arranged through the policyholder's attorney. Further, Mr. Berg himself provided the vehicle at the inspection.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 5:

On November 3, 1997, Plaintiff Bergs requested Defendant Nationwide to produce all maintenance records, bills, receipts, estimates and notes or correspondence between Nationwide and Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth that related to the collision claim at issue in this litigation.

ANSWER 5:

Denied as stated. See attached letter dated November 3, 1997 from counsel for plaintiffs, attached hereto as Exhibit "C." The letter speaks for itself.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 6:

On December 2, 1997, Defendant Nationwide responded by supplying the repair appraisal dated September 20, 1996.

ANSWER 6:

Nationwide interprets the request as referring to the November 3, 1997 letter (attached hereto as Exhibit "C") and otherwise objects to the request as vague and ambiguous. Without waiving any objections, this request is denied as stated. It is admitted that on or about December 2, 1997, Nationwide provided to plaintiffs' attorney a repair estimate with print date of September 20, 1996.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 7:

On December 2, 1997, Defendant Nationwide did not possess the supplement report dated February 5, 1997, previously identified as an Exhibit to Douglass Joffred's deposition of April 14, 1998, as Exhibit "L-6"

ANSWER 7:

Nationwide is presently without information or knowledge sufficient to form a belief as to whether, on December 2, 1997, its former local employees who handled or were most familiar with the handling of the claim did or did not possess the supplemental estimate with print date of February 5, 1997. The local employees who handled or were most familiar with the handling of the claim at the time are no longer employed with Nationwide. The document apparently was not in their possession at that time, but it may have existed in Nationwide's remote storage facility located in Ohio. However, Nationwide cannot at this time confirm this. Nationwide admits that prior to December 2, 1997, it made payment in accordance with the amount specified in the supplemental estimate with print date of February 5, 1997, which amount coincides with Lindgren's invoice dated December 30, 1996 identified as Exhibit "L-2" and made part of the record in this case.

REQUEST FOR ADMISSION 8:

On December 2, 1997, and at all times prior, Defendant Nationwide was not aware that Defendant Lindgren elected to repair, rather than replace, the right frame rail to Plaintiff Bergs' vehicle.

ANSWER 8:

Nationwide objects to the term "aware" as vague and ambiguous. Without waving any objections, Nationwide is presently without information or knowledge sufficient to form a belief as to whether its former employees who handled or were most familiar with the handling of the claim on or before December 2, 1997 were specifically cognizant of Lindgren's decision to repair rather than replace the right frame rail to the Bergs' vehicle. Those who handled or were most familiar with the handling of the claim on or before December 2, 1997 are no longer employed with Nationwide. Nationwide admits that prior to December 2, 1997, it made payment in accordance with the amount specified in the supplemental estimate with print date of February 5, 1997, which amount coincides with Lindgren's invoice dated December 30, 1996 identified as Exhibit "L-2" and made part of the record in this case.

Claim No: 5837C137421 09041996 01

Dear Mr. Stitzel:

As you are aware, I represent the Berg family for fraudulent and/or grossly negligent repair work done to their Jeep Cherokee at Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth. As you are also aware, the Berg family were directed to Lindgren Chrysler Plymouth by Nationwide via Nationwide's Blue Ribbon Repair Program.

On April 14, 1998, depositions of Lindgren chrysler Plymouth's body shop manager and general manager were conducted pursuant to a Writ of Summons and Court Order. The purpose of the depositions were to determine whether Nationwide is an appropriate defendant in this action.

Lindgren has issued a Rule to File Complaint which requires the Bergs to file a complaint within twenty days of the depositions. This period expires on May 44, 1998.

We have retained an expert who has indicated that the vehicle is no longer crash worthy. Lindgren had the vehicle examined by an independent expert through Crawford and Company. I suggest Nationwide also have the vehicle inspected as soon as possible by an independent expert for purposes of litigation if we are otherwise unable to resolve this matter.

The vehicle is a leased vehicle and requires a $100,000/$300,000 liability policy of insurance pursuant to the terms of the lease. The Berg family has been forced to purchase a new vehicle to ensure their safety. The Berg family cannot afford to pay the lease payments and liability insurance on the Cherokee and their new vehicle.

As a result, the Berg family is going to sell the Cherokee. Please allow this letter to serve as a formal notice that this vehicle is going to be disposed of in the next six weeks. If you need more time to retain an appropriate expert please advise.

Please also advise if Nationwide will purchase the vehicle from the Berg family. If Nationwide will not purchase the vehicle then please advise what Nationwide will do pursuant to the terms, conditions and warranties of its Blue Ribbon Repair Program, its policy of insurance with the Berg family.

A complaint must be filed by May 4, 1998. The Bergs must sell the Cherokee due to financial constraints. Time is of the essence.

Please advise at your earliest opportunity. Enclosed are copies of the relevant pleadings.

Very truly yours,

Re: Berg v. Lindgren

Dear Mr. Witmer:

Please be advised that this office represents Daniel Berg in regard to a claim being presented against Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth arising out of faulty repair work done at their facility.

It is my understanding that you are Mr. Berg's first party property damage adjuster for the claim arising out of this automobile accident.

Please direct all future communications regarding this claim through my office. Please do not contact Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth as your communications may have an impact on Mr. Berg's pending litigation against Lindgren. If Lindgren contacts you please direct them to my office and/or forward their correspondence to my office for further handling.

Please forward me a copy of your file including all maintenance records, bills, receipts, estimates and notes or correspondence between you and Lindgren Chrysler-Plymouth as it relates to this claim.

I am preparing a complaint to be filed against Lindgren and the Chrysler Corporation. I have retained an expert to examine the vehicle. If Nationwide requires an opportunity to examine the vehicle please advise.

Please call me so we might discuss this matter further.

Very truly yours,

Ben Mayerson

Re:     Berg v. Nationwide

Dear Ben:

Pursuant to the Court's August 15, 2005 Order, attached are the redacted billing records of Nationwide in this matter. Our production of the information contained in these documents, including the production of any time description or portion thereof, is in no way a waiver of attorney-client privilege, work product privilege, or any other applicable privilege. Nationwide specifically asserts that it is not waiving any of the aforementioned privileges by producing the attached documents in compliance with the Court's Order.

Please note that after a diligent search, we were unable to locate any billing records for February, March, and April of 1999. We will continue to search for these records and inform you when, or if, they are located.

Very truly yours,

NELSON LEVINE de LUCA & HORST, LLC

§ 62.2. Licensing requirements.

(a) A person may not directly or indirectly act or hold himself out as an appraiser unless the person has first secured a license from the Commissioner in accordance with the provisions of the act and this chapter.

(b) The fee to be paid to the Commissioner by an applicant for an appraiser's license shall be $10 at the time the application is made and $10 annually for the renewal thereof. In the event of failure to pass the examination, the fee of $10 will not be returnable.

(c) Each appraiser, while engaged in appraisal duties, shall carry the license issued to him by the Department and shall display it, upon request, to an owner whose vehicle is being inspected, to the repair shop representative involved or to an authorized representative of the Department.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in the act and this chapter, a person may not be granted an appraiser's license unless he first establishes his qualifications therefor and takes and passes an examination for appraisers.

(e) An applicant for the examination shall be at least 18 years of age; shall be a resident of this Commonwealth, or a resident of another state or country which permits residents of this Commonwealth to act as appraisers in that state or country; shall be trustworthy.

(f) In order to qualify for the examination, an applicant shall establish his competency to fulfill the responsibility of being an appraiser. This may be done by showing either a minimum of 6 months continuous experience at an occupation directly involving the estimation of physical damage to motor vehicles, such as a body repairman; or by providing written documentation of successful completion of special education or training related to appraising motor vehicle physical damage and acceptable to the Commissioner as assuring minimum standards of competency.

(g) Applications for an examination as appraiser shall be made to the Commissioner upon forms prescribed and furnished by him and shall be accompanied by the proper fee. Information required on forms must be completed or the application will not be processed.

(h) The examination for licensure which shall be given under the supervision of the Commissioner shall consist of a written examination that shall include the act of appraising one or more damaged motor vehicles and shall be supplemented, by an oral examination. At the discretion of the Commissioner an oral examination in lieu of the aforesaid written examination may be given but only for reason of an applicant's physical handicap. An oral examination shall include the act of appraising one or more damaged motor vehicles.

(i) The examination for licensure which shall be given under the supervision of the Commissioner shall consist of a written examination that shall include the act of appraising one or more damaged motor vehicles and shall be supplemented, by an oral examination. At the discretion of the Commissioner an oral examination in lieu of the aforesaid written examination may be given but only for reason of an applicant's physical handicap. An oral examination shall include the act of appraising one or more damaged motor vehicles.

(i) Examinations shall be given at reasonable times and places within the Commonwealth. An applicant who fails to pass the examination is not eligible to retake an examination for 30 days from the date of the failure.

(j) Upon proper application and the payment of a fee of $10 a person who has been employed or engaged for a period of not less than 2 years prior to the submission of the application in the appraising of physical damages to motor vehicles and is currently so engaged shall be licensed without examination as an appraiser if the application is made on or before July 1, 1973, and the applicant possesses the qualifications required of applicants as provided in section 3 of the act (63 P. S. § 853) and subsections (d)-(f).

(k) An appraiser's license shall expire annually at midnight of June 30th next following the date of issuance.

(l) Subject to the right of the Commissioner to suspend, revoke or refuse to renew an appraiser's license, the license may be renewed for another annual period commencing the first day of July and expiring at midnight of June 30th next following by filing with the Commissioner on or before the expiration date a written request, by or on behalf of the licensee, for the renewal, accompanied by payment of the renewal fee.

(m) If the request and fee for renewal of the license is filed with the Commissioner prior to the expiration of the existing license, the license may continue to act under the license, unless sooner revoked or suspended, until the issuance of renewal license or until the expiration of 5 days after the Commissioner has refused to renew the license and has mailed notice of the refusal to the licensee. A request for renewal not so filed until after the day of expiration may be considered by the Commissioner as an application for a new license.

§ 62.3. Applicable standards for appraisal.

(1) An appraisal shall state the name of the insurance company, the insurance file number, the number of the appraiser's license and the proper identification number of the vehicle being inspected.

(2) An appraisal shall be signed by the appraiser before the appraisal is submitted to the insurer, the consumer or another involved party.

(3) An appraisal may not make use of abbreviations or symbols to describe work to be done or parts to be repaired or replaced unless an explanation of the abbreviations and symbols is included.

(b) The appraisal statement shall contain the following:

(1) License necessary to return the vehicle to its condition prior to the damage in question, including, but not necessarily limited to labor involved; necessary painting or refinishing; and all sublet work to be done. Furthermore, there shall be a specification of charges relating to towing, protective care, custody, storage, depreciation, including but not limited to new battery and tire replacement, applicable sales tax payable on the total dollar amount of the appraisal, and all other matters incidental to repair of the incurred damage.

(2) A clear indication of the cost or dollar amount value of specified items.

(3) A clear indication of unrelated or old damage.

(4) If there is a date after which an insurer will not be responsible for a related towing services or storage charges, or both, and after which the charges will be the responsibility of the consumer, the appraisal shall clearly indicate that date.

(5) In the specification of new or used parts, the following standards shall be used for the appraisal statement:

(1) The operational safety of the motor vehicle shall be paramount especially when the parts involved pertain to the drive train, steering gear, suspension units, brake system or tires.

(2) If used parts are specified in the appraisal, the appraiser shall have certain knowledge of one or more relatively convenient locations where the particular used parts are actually and reasonably available in usable condition equivalent to or better than the condition of the damaged parts prior to the accident. The appraiser shall specify the locations where such used parts are in fact available.

(3) In the appraisal of salvage value, the following standards shall be used:

(1) If the salvage value of the vehicle being appraised is known or could reasonably be found out, the appraiser shall inform the consumer of the salvage value and additional charges for towing services or storage chargeable against the motor vehicle as of the date of the appraisal.

(2) For a salvage value listed, the appraiser shall inform the consumer of name and address of salvage buyer, and the amount and expiration date of each salvage bid known.

(3) If the ownership and possession of the damaged motor vehicle is not retained by the owner or his representative, this subsection dealing with salvage value need not be complied with.

(4) The following standards shall be used regarding the betterment of the vehicle:

(1) An appraisal for the repair of the motor vehicle will be made in the amount necessary to return the motor vehicle to its same condition just prior to the damage in question being incurred.

Appendix 1981 Commonwealth of Massachusetts

(2) If the consumer is insistent upon the use of new parts rather than repair, or otherwise wishes to repair the motor vehicle to a condition better than that existing prior to the damage incurred, the appraisal need only specify the cost of repairing the vehicle to its condition just prior to the time the damage was incurred.

(3) The following standards shall be used to determine replacement value under policy provisions covering the total loss of a motor vehicle including an unrecovered motor vehicle:

(1) If the cost of repair of a motor vehicle exceed its appraised value, less salvage value, or the motor vehicle cannot be satisfactorily or reasonably repaired to its condition just prior to the damage in question being incurred, the appraised value of the loss shall be the replacement value of the motor vehicle.

(2) The replacement value of a motor vehicle shall be calculated by use of one of the following methods:

(i) Guide book method. The appraiser shall calculate the average of the figures reflecting the retail book value of a vehicle of like kind and condition, as stated in the correct edition of the Red Book (National Market Reports, Inc., Circulation Department, 300 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois 60606, telephone 1-800-671-9907) and the NADVA Book (Subscription Department, P.O. Box 7800, Costa Mesa, California 92628, telephone 1-800-622-6232), adjusted for equipment and mileage, less the cost of repair of damage which preexisted the accident in question. There shall be no other deductions except for salvage and then only if the owner elects to retain the vehicle.

(ii) Actual cost method. The appraiser shall determine the actual cost of purchase of an available motor vehicle of like kind and quality in condition similar to or better than the motor vehicle being appraised just prior to the damage in question being incurred.

(iii) Dealer quotation method. The appraiser shall consult with dealers or other persons knowledgeable in the field to secure quotations as to the value of the motor vehicle being appraised. At least two quotations shall be secured. The figures thus secured shall be averaged.

(4) If the motor vehicle is listed in both the Red Book and the NADVA Book, including older car publications, the replacement value shall be calculated by the Guide book method or by the actual cost method, as described in paragraph (2). If the actual cost method is used, and the owner of the damaged vehicle shows that the replacement value is not of the same kind and quality, both calculations referenced in this paragraph shall be made, and the higher of the values obtained shall be offered in settlement.

(2) If the consumer is inquisitive upon the use of new parts rather than repair, or otherwise wishes to repair the motor vehicle to a condition better than that existing prior to the damage incurred, the appraiser need only specify the cost of repairing the vehicle to its condition just prior to the time the damage was incurred.

(D) The following standards shall be used to determine replacement value under policy provisions covering the total loss of a motor vehicle including an uncovered motor vehicle:

(1) If the costs of repair of a motor vehicle exceed its appraised value, less salvage value or the motor vehicle cannot be satisfactorily or reasonably repaired to its condition just prior to the damage in question being incurred, the appraised value of the loss shall be the replacement value of the motor vehicle.

(2) The replacement value of a motor vehicle shall be calculated by use of the one of the following methods:

(i) Guide source method. The appraiser shall calculate the average price of two figures reflecting the retail book value of a vehicle of like kind and condition, as stated in the corrected edition of the Red Book (National Market Reports, Inc., Circulation Department, 300 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois 60606, telephone (800) 671-9907), the MADA Book (Subscription Department, Post Office Box 7800, Costa Mesa, California 92628, telephone (800) 622-6232), or any similar source of information approved by the Commissioner, adjusted for equipment and mileage, less the cost of repair of damage which preceded the accident in question. There may be no other deductions except for salvage and then only if the owner elects to retain the vehicle.

(ii) Actual cost method. The appraiser shall determine the actual cost of purchase of an available motor vehicle of like kind and quality in condition similar to or better than the motor vehicle being appraised just prior to the damage in question being incurred.

(iii) Dealer quotation method. The appraiser shall consult with dealers or other persons knowledgeable in the field to secure quotations as to the value of the motor vehicle being appraised. At least two quotations shall be secured. The figures thus secured shall be averaged.

cost method, as described in paragraph (2). If the actual cost method is used, and the owner of the damaged vehicle shows that the replacement vehicle is not of the same kind and quality, both calculations referenced in this paragraph shall be made, and the higher of the values obtained shall be offered in settlement.

(4) If the motor vehicle is not listed in any two of the sources authorized by paragraph (2)(i), including older car publications, or if the vehicle differs materially from the average vehicle because of factors not considered in guide sources, for example, antique or classic cars, vehicles no longer manufactured and unique vehicles, the replacement value shall be calculated by the actual cost method or by the dealer quotation method, as described in paragraph (2). If the dealer quotation method is used, both calculations referenced in this paragraph shall be made, and the higher of the values obtained shall be offered in settlement.

(5) Applicable sales tax on the replacement cost of a motor vehicle shall be included as part of the replacement value.

(6) The licensed appraiser's Total Loss Evaluation Report shall contain the names and addresses of those persons from whom quotations were secured, the date secured, and whether or not a similar vehicle was available.

(7) The licensed appraiser's file shall show the method used to determine the more accurate replacement value in a given locality.

(8) A copy of the total loss evaluation sheet shall be given to the consumer by the appraiser ~~within five~~ <sup>within 5</sup> working days after the appraisal is completed. If an offer of settlement is made before the consumer receives the total loss evaluation sheet, the consumer shall be verbally advised of the contents thereof and of his right to receive a copy within 5 days after its completion.

(a) The general standards of behavior of an appraiser shall include the following:

- (1) Conduct to inspire public confidence by fair and honorable dealings.
- (2) Appraisals of damaged property done without prejudice against, or favoritism toward, any party involved.
- (3) Disregard of attempts of others to influence his judgment in the interest of the parties involved.
- (4) Preparation of an independent appraisal of damage.
- (5) Inspection of a vehicle within 6 working days of assignment to the appraiser unless intervening circumstances (for example catastrophe, death, failure of the parties to cooperate) render the inspection impossible.

(6) An appraiser may not receive directly or indirectly a gratuity or other consideration in connection with his appraisal services from a person except his employer or, if self-employed, his customer.

(7) An appraiser may not traffic in automobile salvage if the salvage is obtained as a result of appraisal services rendered by him for his own benefit.

(8) An appraiser or his employer may not recommend or require that repairs be made at a particular place or by a particular individual. An appraiser may not have a direct or indirect conflict of interest in the making of an appraisal. This chapter and the act, and this section in particular, shall be strictly interpreted to protect the interest of the consumer and place the burden upon the appraiser to fully eliminate conflict of interest in the making of an appraisal. Unless as otherwise specified in this chapter or act, a licensed appraiser may not attempt to directly or indirectly coerce, persuade, induce or advise the consumer that appraised motor vehicle physical damage must be, should be or could be repaired at a particular location or by a particular individual or business.

(9) Before an appraiser authorizes the removal of a motor vehicle from one location to another, the consent of the consumer shall be obtained.

(10) The need for consent of the consumer may not be necessary for initial removal of the motor vehicle from the scene of an accident.

(11) An appraiser authorizing removal of a motor vehicle to a salvage yard shall inform the salvor in writing that possession is merely for safekeeping purposes and that the salvor does not have an ownership right to the motor vehicle, its parts or accessories, until a certificate of title is received indicating that ownership has been transferred.

(12) Personal inspection of damaged property by the appraiser is required as follows:

- (i) An appraiser may not secure or use repair estimates that have been obtained by the use of photographs, telephone calls or in a manner other than personal inspection.
- (ii) If a damaged motor vehicle is in the custody of a repair shop, an appraiser may not take photographs of the damaged motor vehicle until after a legible copy of his appraisal is left with the repair shop although the appraisal may contain certain open items.
- (iii) The responsibility of the appraiser shall include delivery and explanation of the appraisal as follows:
  - (i) The appraiser shall provide a legible copy of the appraisal to the consumer.

(ii) At the request of an involved party or as is otherwise necessary, the appraiser shall leave a copy of the appraisal with the selected repair shop. The appraiser shall discuss the appraisal with the selected repair shop owner, its authorized representative or any other parties as is reasonably necessary to insure that the actual costs of repairs are adequately covered in the appraisal.

(iii) Upon the unsolicited request of the consumer, an appraiser shall provide names and addresses of auto body shops, garages or repair shops within a reasonable distance of where the motor vehicle is located and where work will be done in accord with the written appraisal.

(13) An appraiser shall promptly reinspect damaged vehicles prior to the repairs in question: when supplementary allowances are requested by repair shops or when the amount or extent of damages is in dispute, or both.

(14) A provision of the act or this chapter may not be construed as intended to prohibit or limit the subsequent appraisal or reappraisal of damage by different licensed appraisers, if such is desired by any of the involved parties.

Authority:
The provisions of this § 62.3 issued under section 10 of the Motor Vehicle Physical Damage Appraiser Act, the act of December 29, 1972 (P. L. 1713, No. 367), 69 P. S. § 860; amended under the Motor Vehicle Physical Damage Appraiser Act (69 P. S. §§ 851-863).

Source:
The provisions of this § 62.3 amended through August 17, 1984, effective August 18, 1984, 14 Pa.B. 3022; amended July 21, 1995, effective July 22, 1995, 25 Pa.D. 2884; immediately preceding text appears at serial pages (188533) to (188538).

§ 62.4. Sanctions for violation.

(a) The Commissioner may deny initial issuance of, suspend, revoke or refuse to renew an appraiser's license for any cause specified in the act, or this chapter, or for any of the following causes:

(1) For cause for which issuance of the license could have been refused had it been existent and been known to the Commissioner.

(2) If the licensee willfully violates, or fails to comply with or knowingly participates in the violation of or failure to comply with the act, or this chapter or another rule or regulation promulgated thereunder.

(3) If the licensee has obtained or attempted to obtain a license through willful misrepresentation or fraud, or has failed to pass an examination required under this act.

(4) If the licensee has, with intent to deceive, materially misrepresented the terms or effect of an insurance contract; or has engaged or is about to engage in a fraudulent transaction.

(5) If the licensee has been convicted, by final judgment, of a felony.

(6) If in the conduct of his affairs under the license, the licensee has been shown himself to be, and is so deemed by the Commissioner, incompetent or untrustworthy, or a source of injury and loss to the public.

(7) Every order suspending a license shall specify the period during which suspension will be effective, which may in no event exceed 12 months.

(8) The holder of a license which has been revoked or suspended shall immediately surrender the license to the Commissioner at his request.

(9) The Commissioner may not reinstate the license or refuse a license or former license whose license has been suspended, revoked or renewal refused while the cause for the suspension, revocation or refusal of the license persists.

(10) Except as otherwise provided in the act, actions of the Commissioner shall be taken subject to the right of notice, hearing and adjudication, and the right to appeal therefrom as provided by law.

(11) The license of an individual found in violation of this chapter or the act may be suspended or revoked by the Commissioner. In addition, a person who violates this chapter or the act may be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, for each offense, may be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding $500, or to undergo imprisonment not exceeding 1 year, or both.
